Jeanette Nance

Jeanette Nance holds a degree in political science and public administration from the University of Central Oklahoma. She is the Executive Director of Keep Oklahoma Beautiful, (KOB) a statewide non-profit, which empowers Oklahomans to preserve and enhance the state's natural beauty and ensure a healthy, sustainable environment through several programs and in cooperation with Keep America Beautiful. Jeanette has also served the state of Oklahoma as the Director of Constituent Services for Governor Brad Henry, in External Affairs at the Oklahoma Department of Environmental Quality, as a Deputy Court Clerk for the Oklahoma Supreme Court, as a Legal Assistant at the Office of the State Attorney General and as Assistant Director/Professional Standards Secretary for the OKC Realtor Association.

Stacy Cramer Moore

Stacy Cramer Moore is in her fifth year as the Executive Director, Chisholm Trail Heritage Center in Duncan, OK.. Prior to joining the ranks of a nonprofit, Moore was involved in community and economic development at the regional, state and federal levels. She worked for a regional planning district, similar to ASCOG, the Oklahoma Department of Commerce and the United States Department of Agriculture's NRCS. In 2011, Stacy was given a Congressional Accommodation from Representative Frank Lucas for her work in bettering Oklahoma's quality of life and industry. Stacy grew up in Iowa and moved to Oklahoma in 1997 to work as a research scientist for the United States Environmental Protection Agency in Ada. During this time she learned computer modeling, which led to community computer modeling and planning, which led to planning and administration. She claims it makes perfect sense. Stacy has owned her own businesses, spent some time working as an OSHA safety compliance officer, and was a plane crash test subject. Now, she gets to put all of those skills together as a director of an international tourism attraction
